Levittown Trash Drivers Back On Job
JUDGE TURNS DOWN FAUBUS

Talks Start
On Details
Of Agreement

By GORDON PARKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Striking employees of the O'Connor Company, were back on their jobs today and full scale rubbish collections were resumed while company and union representatives sat down to discuss a contract.

L. P. O'Connor, head of the collection firm, met with leaders of local 343 of the Teamsters union at 10 a.m. This was a continuation of a three-and-a-half hour meeting held last night.

The talks began after the more than 20 striking employees voluntarily returned to their jobs yesterday afternoon following a conference with O'Connor.

Trucks Move

The strike of the truck drivers and their helpers began Tuesday morning. Pickets kept the trash trucks in the company yard at Bristol-Oxford Valley Road near the turnpike, Tuesday. But on Wednesday seven trucks moved.

Good Evening!

Weather more like September.

A month hence we'll all be yapping for more like July. Hard to please anybody any more.

But that United States Marine Band did a lot of pleasing at the Snyder school in Bristol yesterday afternoon and last evening and if you missed it you missed the finest musical event of the decade.

And we'll bet Major Schoepper, the director, and his musicians never played to a more appreciative audience. You know, you just don't get to enjoy something like that every day of the week.

FBI Chief Hoover warns at Legion convention that public complacency about the war on crime and the battle against subversion could add up to national tragedy.

And Mr. Hoover is positively correct. This country is so busy knocking itself out over trivia that it's completely sidestepping a few of the very basic responsibilities.

Tom Jones and his missus back from a fishing jaunt to Vancouver in the Canadian Northwest and that just about officially ends the vacation season.

At that, we haven't noticed much salmon flying around the neighborhood.

COINWORD, the fascinating puzzle contest beginning this week in the Courier and Times taking Lower Bucks by storm, with the mailman already bending low.

It's quite a contest. Have fun and win $50? We never heard of a better deal. See Page 3, please.

The charwoman in a bank was telling her neighbors of her prowess in polishing floors.

"When I started to work there, the floors was in bad shape. But since I have been doing them," she said with quite pride, "three ladies has fell down."

Phone Union
Pay Increase
Ends Strike

NEW YORK (UP)—A contract agreement ended today a four-day strike of telephone equipment installers that partially disrupted long-distance telephone service across the nation.

Federal mediator Walter Maggilo announced the settlement shortly before 1 a.m. e.d.t., climaxing two days of marathon negotiations.

Most of the 23,800 striking installers were expected to return to their jobs today. The installers, members of the Communications Workers of America, are employed by the Western Electric Co., the manufacturing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. They install telephone equipment in telephone exchanges in all states with the exception of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Montana.

In Atlanta, a spokesman for the southeastern local of the CWA said installers in that area would not return to work until disciplinary action was withdrawn against non-striking employees who observed the union's picket lines. A company spokesman said, however, that he had not heard of any employees being suspended because of refusing to cross picket lines.

The new contract, for two years, provides a 6 to 12-cent hourly pay increase; a 25-cent-a-day increase in transfer allowances and eliminates overnight travel when ever possible. In addition, the pact provides for a reopening clause after one year for discussions on wages and travel allowance.

The union estimated the total hourly "package" cost at 13.2 cents.

Snapped Pole
Lands On Car

Two drivers escaped injury yesterday in Feasterville in an accident in which a truck hit a telephone pole and the pole fell on a car.

Fred S. Silverman, 21, 2633 Elbridge St., Philadelphia, was operating a dump truck west on Street Road, near Hoover Ave., Feasterville, when the accident took place.

Silverman, in checking his brakes, found he had no pressure. He kept pumping the brakes. Suddenly the pressure returned and the truck veered to the right of the highway and into the telephone pole.

The pole snapped and fell on top of a car following the truck. The car was driven by Delbert Richardson, 28, 41 Greenbriar Road, Goldenridge, Levittown.

Reds Blame United States
For Crisis In Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Russia blamed the United States today for the crisis in Syria and the Middle East and disclaimed any intention by the Kremlin to meddle in internal affairs there.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, in a policy speech to the United Nations General Assembly, also:

—Proposed a suspension of nuclear weapons tests for two to three years.

—Proposed outlawing use of atomic and hydrogen arms for at —Called for a "peaceful coexistence" agreement among all countries.

—Demanded that the U.N. end its concern with the situation in Hungary.

—Urged strengthening of the U.N. by dissolving "various blocs and military alliances."

—Declared that the authority of the U.N. is being undermined by the exclusion of Communist China.

New Radar
Detects Long
Range Missile

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force reported today that the United States has developed radar which will detect an intercontinental ballistic missile up to 3,000 miles away.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, said the advanced type of radar will be put into use "in the near future" to give U.S. population and military centers "instantaneous warning" of a missile attack.

White's disclosure came on the heels of Defense Department confirmation last night that this country has flown a test ballistic missile for "thousands of miles."

White told the Defense Orientation Association, meeting at the Pentagon, that the Air Force has made "recent breakthroughs in the computer, communications, radar and missiles fields."

"Work is now being actively pursued in two phases of the total system" of air defense, he said.

"Radars have now been developed which have detection ranges on an intercontinental ballistic missile out to 3,000 miles," White said.

"This system, which will provide instantaneous warning to our population and military centers, is planned for operational employment in the near future," White said.

The Army is developing a missile called Zeus. The Air Force is in a much earlier stage of work on a device called Wizard.

Teenage Runaways
Caught In Morrisville

Morrisville police apprehended three runaway teenage boys yesterday afternoon.

Patrolman Harry Tomlinson and Stanley Naprawa were directing noon school traffic at the Pennsylvania Ave.-Bridge St. intersection when an 11-year-old New Brunswick, N.J. youngster rode by on a bicycle. Acting on a hunch, the police picked the lad up and he admitted "riding" away. He was taken to the Clinton St. Station in Trenton where his mother met him.

At 2:30 p.m. two 14-year-old Philadelphia boys were picked up at the intersection. They told police they had been suspended from school earlier in the week and couldn't face their parents.

Audience Dazzled

U.S. Marine Band
Plays To Crowds

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The U.S. Marine Band dazzled a near-capacity audience with a vivid display of technical resources at the Warren P. Snyder School, Bristol, last night.

Major Albert F. Schoepper, director, led the resplendent Marines, who drew a standing ovation at the close of the concert sponsored by the Bristol Rotary Club.

Earlier in the day, the Marine Band had performed in a matinee for an audience dominated by school pupils.

Versatility was the key of the evening.

In a program that ranged from the dissonant brass of Paul Hindemith's march from "Symphonic Metamorphoses" to Don Gillis' choreographic suite, "Tulsa," to the more conventional "Stars and Stripes Forever," the Marine Band was at all times excellent.

Fine Direction

Major Schoepper's direction emphasized the musical elements in all his compositions without sacrificing the muscularity one expects from a first rate military band.

"The Corsair" overture of Hector Berlioz was an ideal vehicle for Marines. Its colorful orchestration and brilliant climax added up to a real showcase for the band's talent.

But the bandmen were just as effective in an invigorating reading of Gillis' "Tulsa." The (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

He Refuses
To Withdraw
From Bench

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. UP—U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies today turned down Gov. Orval E. Faubus request that he step down from the bench and let another judge decide whether Faubus should be enjoined from interfering with integration in Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus failed to appear today at a hearing on a Justice Department petition to enjoin him from defying the U.S. government by preventing the integration of Central High School with the National Guard.

He was not in U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies' court when it opened at 10:02 a.m. c.s.t., and his lawyers, Kay Matthews of Little Rock and Tom Harper of Fort Smith, said he will not appear.

Thurgood Marshall, the NAACP's general counsel from New York, was in the courtroom. So were nine Negro children who were turned away from Central High School by National Guardsmen to shouts from a crowd of "kill the SOB."

Faubus' failure to appear will not affect the hearing. He is under no compulsion to appear, as long as he is represented. His lawyers served that purpose and prevented the Justice Department from getting the injunction by default.

If an injunction is handed down and Faubus fails to obey it, he could become the first governor to be arrested and fined or sent to jail for contempt of court.

Before the government starts presenting witnesses, Judge Davies must rule on a request by (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Chief of Police John S. Davis said the disturbance took place early Sunday morning in front of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home and the two were picked up later on warrants.

4 Municipalities Committee Again Sought For Levittown

Milton Berkes, Democratic supervisor in Falls Township, said he would again propose the adoption of a Regional Cooperation Committee.

Berkes made the original proposal last year but said it was turned down by the Republican members of the Falls Township Board of Supervisors, Clifford Watson and Elder Hecker.

The committee would represent the four municipalities in Levittown and deal with problems unique to Levittown.

"It has already been seen," Berkes said, "that such a committee could work."

"We got new curbings from Levittown when all four municipalities banded together and we will probably support the Levittown library on the same four municipality basis," he said.

"Sounding Board"

Berkes said such a committee would merely be able to serve as a "sounding board" for problems confronting Levittown.

"We could screen Levittown problems and then turn them over to each municipality. In the last analysis, the individual municipalities would still retain their own independence in approving or disapproving a suggestion of the committee."

"Such a committee could operate without breaking down existing boundaries, creating a new tax problem, or interfering with traditional community allegiance."

Berkes said many problems exist in Levittown that will be neglected on an individual municipality basis as "uneconomical."

Cooperative Basis

"These problems could easily be worked out on a cooperative basis by the municipalities banding together," he said.

Berkes said his original proposal was "non-political and in fact even received bi-partisan support."

"The Republicans mentioned they would support the idea and were enthusiastic about it. When I proposed it at a meeting of the board, they turned it down," Berkes said.

Fire Destroys Houses In City

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A five-alarm fire swept through a West Philadelphia lumberyard last night and destroyed eight three-story apartment houses routing more than a score of families.

Nineteen firemen were injured and one company narrowly escaped when a roof collapsed.

The blaze broke out at the Swainsboro Lumber Co. near 47th and Kingsessing Ave., shortly before 9 o'clock. Benjamin Kates, 33, an off-duty fireman, saw the smoke pouring from the stacked lumber and turned in an alarm.

Four more alarms were turned in later and within an hour the lumber yard fire was extinguished. The homes, all semi-detached brick and frame structures converted into apartments blazed for more than an hour longer.

Sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Delaware Valley Hospital, the fete will be held for the benefit of the hospital's equipment fund.

Bucks Development Unit Hears Report By Wood

Franklin C. Wood, director of the Bucks County Development Committee, reported at the monthly Development Committee meeting that he had attended the Instruments Society of America Convention in Cleveland last week to inform executives of the industry of the desirability of Bucks County as a location for new expansion. Approximately 400 contacts were made. Mr. Wood pointed out to the Development Committee members that two instrument firms presently located in Bucks County - Fischer and Porier and U.S. Gauge - have demonstrated their faith in the county by announcing that they will construct completely new plants here.

Eric Jones, director of the Bureau of Industrial Development, Harrisburg, attended the meeting to present to Charles E. Hunter, chairman of the Bucks County Development Committee, the "Grant Declaration for Industrial Development Assistance" which awards $14,462 in State funds to the development committee for industrial promotion.

Mr. Hunter announced that the Development Committee, having completed its first year of operation as of Sept. 11, would elect officers at the next regular meeting Oct. 20.

Mr. Wood presented a draft of recommended industrial zoning standards for rural and semi-rural townships to members of the committee. The report was prepared by Development Committee and Bucks County Planning Commission staff members to aid local planning and zoning officials.

Lakeside Section Plans To Mark Anniversary

7 Collectors Of Bridge Unit Face Charges

The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission may press criminal charges against seven toll collectors who yesterday were suspended for "manipulating funds" from the freeway bridge between Morrisville and Trenton.

Executive director of the commission, George Feaster, said at a press conference yesterday, that the men could face Bucks County grand jury action for pocketing "a sizeable amount" of monies from the span agency's toll collections.

The seven men suspended yesterday are: William Scheese, 340 Hillside Ave., Morrisville; Gordon B. Carr, Hightstown, N.J.; Francis R. Cooney, 891 Park Ave., Trenton; Leon N. Dillon, Old York Road, New Hope; Donald Z. Moore, 45 South Olden Ave., Trenton; and Teddy J. Walter, 1719 Sixth St., Trenton.

All collectors were on the Trenton - Morrisville Bridge.

Two Others

Feaster said two other employees were suspended last month. They were Miss Carole E. Brown, 327 Spring St., Trenton, a former teller at the bridge; and John J. Boushell, 79 West Broad St., East Stroudsburg, former collector at the Delaware Water Gap Bridge.

The charges will be referred to the commission at its monthly meeting Thursday.

Feaster said the suspensions arose from an investigation which is continuing. He said it's possible that more suspensions may follow, but none are planned immediately.

The investigations, he said, were an outgrowth of a general commission reorganization which began early last year, following disclosure of uneconomic administration by the commission as it was formerly constituted.

"We intend to pursue this inquiry," Feaster said, "but our employees who are doing an honest and efficient job will have nothing to fear."

Police Bring

Los Angeles authorities had held Thompson under $10,000 bail until Irwin and Riempp arrived. The county detective said the charges against Thompson involved $7,000 in cash he allegedly stole from his employer, Davis R. Super, Byberry and East Comly Roads, Philadelphia, owner of the service station Thompson manuevered on Route 13, Cornwells Heights.

Thompson is now in Bucks County Prison awaiting trial in criminal court. Police believe he spent the money, or most of it, on horses.

Life Underwriters Unit Hears Speaker

The Lower Bucks County Life Underwriters Association met at Flannery's Restaurant, Pennell, yesterday.

Ray Druckenmiller, company's man-of-the-year for Provident Mutual Life Insurance Co., spoke on business operations. The Allentown man has placed more business with his company in one year, than any other special agent in the history of the company.

He specializes in business insurance and is active in civic affairs.

Outline of the year's plans of the Bucks unit were given by Edwin Johnson, president, of Newtown.

William Belser, past president, outlined progress of the Lower Bucks County Estate Planning Commission.

Johnson Takes Self Out Of 1960 Race

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) has eliminated himself as a potential candidate for president in 1960, the Dallas Morning News said today.

The news' political editor, Allen Duckworth, interviewed Johnson and quoted him as saying he would not be in the running.

Johnson indicated that nothing which could happen between now and 1960 could make him change his mind.

State Now Has Small Birth Certificates

HARRISBURG —UP— Miniature, wallet-size birth certificates will be available for the first time in Pennsylvania today at offices of the state Health Department.

Health Secretary Berwyn F. Mattison said the first of the small certificates will be mailed out to answer applications which have been coming in since the 1957 Legislature authorized their issuance. The new law became effective Sept. 15.

The miniature certificates are four inches by two inches in size and are available for persons born after 1906. Before that date the department was not required to keep birth records.

New National Legion Head Slams Reds

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—The new national commander of the American Legion told the delegates to the group's 39th national convention that the United States was still the principal target of the Communist plan for world conquest and domination.

John S. Gleason Jr., a 42-year-old Chicago banker, urged that there be no slackening "of our moral, spiritual and physical defenses."

Gleason was elected commander of the legion Thursday at the closing session of the convention. He succeeds W. C. (Dan) Daniel.

The new national chaplain is the Rev. Feltham S. James, pastor of the 158-year-old Bethel Methodist Church, Charleston, S. C., and winner of a Freedoms Foundation gold medal for an outstanding sermon.

Gleason's acceptance speech followed an address by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover who denied reports of a drop in Communist Party membership in the U. S. The Legion cited Hoover for his "staunch leadership in this nation's fight against the evils of Communism."

The FBI leader said as long as the Red undercover apparatus exists, the Communist threat cannot be brushed aside as trivial or fanciful.

M. McGonigle Services Set

Solemn High Mass will be celebrated for Michael J. McGonigle, 2424 S. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Philadelphia.

Mr. McGonigle, father of Courier-Times Staff Writer James McGonigle and seven other children, died Wednesday at his home after an illness of three months.

Viewing for friends and relatives will be held Monday evening at his home.

Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Philadelphia.

At its Thursday sessions, Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), a board member and a sponsor of the new "right to know" laws, moved that all future executive and regular sessions of the agency be open.

Cites Spending Program

"I'm not going to be the one to keep the public from knowing what's going on here when we're spending millions of dollars of public money," Mahany said.

But Readinger and Senate Democratic Leader John H. Dent (Westmoreland) argued the discussions at executive sessions might be harmful politically to members of the agency who also represented their home districts as legislators.

"Do we open our party caucuses to the press and public?" Dent asked. "Do we open our committee meetings of the Legislature?"

Mahany replied that caucuses should be closed because their affairs were a political party matter. But he said he favored making committee meetings of the lawmakers open affairs.

"If you are going to have all (authority) meetings public, I'll vote for my home community on every project," Dent said.

'Zion's Sake' Sermon Set

Closed Executive Sessions Ruled Out

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General State Authority has ruled out any closed executive board meetings over the objections of one member who contended sessions open to press and public "will be a great deterrent to full and free discussions."

The board voted 9-1 yesterday to throw open all future meetings, including any executive sessions. But Rep. Albert S. Readinger (Berks), House Democratic leader, warned that the "effect" of opening the formerly secret executive board sessions would be to "lead members of this board to withhold discussion."

The issue arose after the last meeting of the agency was opened to the press and public but virtually all of its business was a "rubber stamp" operation of business transacted at a closed executive session held immediately prior to the other meeting.

Gov. George M. Leader said later he was opposed to the closing of executive sessions but said other board members favored the practice.

At its Thursday sessions, Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), a board member and a sponsor of the new "right to know" laws, moved that all future executive and regular sessions of the agency be open.

Night Out Set To Note Fifth Year

One of Levittown's oldest sections, Lakeside, will mark its fifth anniversary next week and residents are planning to note the occasion with a night out.

Mrs. Naomi Smith, 291 Lakeside Drive, in charge of arrangements, said residents of the East section of Lakeside have selected next Saturday night, Sept. 28, as their anniversary date.

The affair is tentatively set for the Del Val Tavern in Morrisville.

Mrs. Smith said the celebration plans so far have been confined to residents of the one part of the section but other residents of Lakeside may contact her if they are interested in attending—are all celebrating five years in Levittown.

Other committee members include Mrs. George Dower, Mrs. Harry Leventhal, and Mrs. Morris Edelson.

The government filed a motion just before court opened today, accusing Faubus of trying to stall off the hearing.

Assistant U. S. Attorney James W. Gallman filed the motion less than an hour before the hearing opened. It asked U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies to strike an affidavit of prejudice that Faubus filed yesterday.

"In view of the absence of the showing of any adequate reason for such delay, the affidavit (filed by Faubus) must be regarded as solely directed to accomplish delay and cause embarrassment to the administration of justice," the government motion said.

Faubus accused Judge Davies of being biased and asked him to disqualify himself.

Gallman charged that: Faubus had failed to cite any facts showing personal bias; that the press reports Faubus cited were not acceptable as evidence; that his charge that Davies had prejudged the issues was not sustained by the facts, and that Faubus had waited almost to the last minute to file the affidavit.

If the government gets an injunction against Faubus today, and he refuses to obey it, he could be arrested and fined or sent to jail for contempt. This probably has never happened to a governor.

Reds Blame

(Continued from Page 1) Russian reaction to Dulles' speech Thursday night. It said he "utterly distorted" the Soviet position on disarmament.

It said the part of his speech devoted to the Middle East "showed that the United States intends to continue and extend its interference in the affairs of the Middle Eastern countries."

Russia now appeared to be attempting to overcome this Western objection with the idea of a limited "first step" ban on nuclear weapons. The offer also was seen as a major bid to win neutral support for Russia's disarmament proposals in the U.N. General Assembly.
